

INTERIORS

Trend Report

FALL 2022

In the same way life often imitates art, interior design pulls from the fashion world to inform new ideas in color, pattern, and even overall aesthetic. When Pantone revealed their fall 2022 color predictions, the trends first made their appearance on runways, then in our homes.

This fall, we see a dramatic chasm in trends, some that deliver exuberance and maximalist ideals, while others that are a return to a state of calm and nature. Both equally exciting. Both a chance to create colorful new expressions rooted in timeless design.

Color Of The Season

Samoan Sun

No matter the weather pattern, sunnier days are here. Cheerful and enlightened, Samoan Sun is one that is prevalent well beyond emojis and Jean Patou's new handbag collection. We'll see this color used to its fullest extent as an accent wall or piece of statement furniture, while muted tones can create the same balmy effect in a more neutral palette.

Here's how to use it:

USE COLOR THEORY

See where Samoan Yellow falls on the color wheel to create a custom palette that still follows classic rules of design. Use different tones of the same hue to create a monochromatic look, or find a complementary shade of blue to add some variety.

PATTERNS MAKE PERFECT

Not ready to use this bold color on its own? Find textiles that incorporate Samoan Yellow for an effortless pop of color that works with your existing furnishings. Play with detailed florals or choose a textured throw to lay across your couch.

LOOK UP

Vaulted ceilings or ones with architectural detailing like crown molding are the perfect canvas for this vibrant hue. The bright yellow will make any room feel taller and larger while creating a youthful ambiance by offsetting white walls or darker furniture.

Brands That Represent Today's Movements In Interior Design.

ELITIS
Elitis' experimental wallpapers blur the lines between poetry and audacity, introducing unexpected materials like banana leaves and oxidized metals to create new ideas on our walls.

FROMENTAL
Fromental brings historical classicism and 18th Century Chinoiserie into the modern era with handmade, imaginative wallcoverings in a distinctly British style.

LAUREN HWANG NEW YORK
Inspired by nature and global cultures, Lauren Hwang New York offers a new modern luxury textile collection steeped in ethnic heritage with simplicity.

THE GIL WALSH COLLECTION
Inspired by the worlds of fashion, art, and culture, The Gil Walsh Collection offers bold, yet versatile designs and fabrics to effortlessly add color and style to your home.

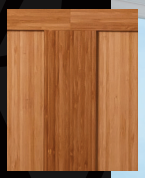

ROSEMARY HALLGARTEN
Weaving traditional techniques of the local craftspeople with luxurious modern materials, Rosemary Hallgarten's alpaca linen line is ideal for drapery, bedding, and accent upholstery.

THIS JUST IN

The world of interior design constantly evolves with new influences making their way into our spaces. Here are just a few of the trends we see phasing out for bold new ideas this season.

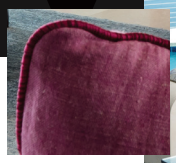

Warm Woods

Natural Stone

Cozy Textiles

Houseplants

IN Organic Materials and Rounded Furniture OUT Modern Farmhouse

Wallpaper is making a comeback

Ceilings as statement pieces

IN Bold color and pattern layers OUT Minimalism and all-white schemes

The Most Searched for Interior Design Trends of the Season

JAPANDI

up 1217%

A fusion of Japanese and Scandinavian design which incorporates neutral color palettes and soft textures to create a calming environment

MAXIMALISM

up 112%

A bold, eclectic style usually involves bold colors, plenty of texture, accessories, and wall art.

COTTAGECORE

up 132%

Inspired by pre-industrial homes featuring design elements like floral prints, natural materials, and indoor plants.